Agencies are bound by a comprehensive agency contract which meets all regulation requirements of our Feeding America member contract and are audited at a minimum of once every two (2) years. Food Bank staff work regularly with our agencies to assure the safe and effective distribution of all granted food and products. Food distributed to agencies is tracked via our central Enterprise Resource Planning system, Ceres, which tracks inventory movement both in and out of our organization via all channels.

Part IV Supplemental Information

Food distributed directly to individuals through our food share and mobile pantry programs is monitored through Ceres (see above) as well, and inventory levels and distributions are monitored and updated daily. Individuals receiving food are recorded in our Client Management database called Link2Feed, which is a purpose-built client management system. This system tracks many data points per household and household information, and data can be easily exported and reported upon.
